

IRC Commits to be Socially Responsible

IRC Global Executive Search Partners joined forces with the Rotary Club of Lake Gardens KL in providing the Kampung Gong indigenous village in Pekan, Malaysia with the installation of the solar-power clean water system. This is the first-ever solar-powered system installed in Peninsular Malaysia. Children can now drink clean water using nanotech filtration and bath with clean water as opposed to using filthy water from the well. Besides providing clean water, a smaller solar system was also build to provide small lightings for the community.

Indigenous marginalized communities in rural areas of Malaysia suffer with a lack of clean drinking water, which substantially impacts the health status of local residents but also the opportunity to gain education and employment system, which ultimately affects the overall economy situation in the country.

Raj Kumar from IRC Malaysia believes that: “Providing water to households empower individuals to become independent, gain good education and work, and ultimately, play a role in shaping a better future. The kind contribution from IRC APAC members will have a far-reaching impact on these people. We should continue this as an IRC tradition because we gain more and we give more. This will spur the spirit of Proud To Belong.”
